ROBERT'S OFFICAL BIO

Born and raised in Fairbanks, Alaska, Robert is the youngest of three siblings and a proud graduate of the University of Alaska, where he earned a degree in Justice in 2012. Over the years, he has built a dynamic career centered on empowering others, promoting justice, and driving systemic change.

His professional journey began as a career counselor, where he guided military soldiers transitioning to civilian life, with a focus on helping medically discharged personnel navigate sustainable career paths.

He then moved into a case management role with the State of Alaska, supporting families on public assistance and addressing barriers to financial stability. Today, as an investigator for the State of Alaska, he ensures that workers are treated fairly and paid properly by their employers, aligning with his lifelong goal of working within the legal system.

Robert is passionate about using his expertise to create equitable opportunities and inspire others to find purpose in their careers.

TESTIMONIALS

Mohammed Aljuboer

"Transitioning from the military to civilian life felt overwhelming, and I wasn't sure where to start. Working with Robert changed everything. His knowledge and positivity helped me make a plan that I felt confident in, and he even checked in months later to see how I was doing. Robert truly cares about his clients, and it shows in everything he does."

Deandree Little

"I've known Robert since my college years, and he's always been a source of encouragement and guidance. He recently helped me revamp my resume, which led to a job I didn't think I'd qualify for. Robert has consistently shown me what it means to stay resilient and pursue my potential. I'm grateful to have him in my corner."

Marcus Polnett

"I met Robert while I was transitioning out of the Army and planning a career in law enforcement. He was understanding and proactive, helping me find agencies that matched my goals and location. Even years later, he's been there with great advice and encouragement as I've advanced in my field. I wouldn't be where I am today without his guidance."

Tae Yoo

"Robert worked as a career transition counselor with the Army, and he always went above and beyond. He listened deeply and offered guidance with genuine empathy. Robert didn't just do his job—he cared about the soldiers he worked with, and that made all the difference."
